

Mrs. Mulford's 5B Classroom Update

I am very pleased with the 4th Quarter effort from the fifth graders. They worked diligently and it showed! I hope that the topics we studied this year will encourage the students to think more clearly and to ask more questions in the future. I always pray that students will become life long lovers of knowledge and that they will apply this knowledge to their lives so that may become wise in the ways that please God.

Please encourage your child to read voraciously over the summer. Reading is always the best preparation for a new school year!

- Missing Books - Please look around the house for books that belong in our classroom. We are missing several reference books and novels and I would appreciate it if they were returned.
- Swimming Party - the money for the swimming party was due today; if you have not sent this money in yet, please do so tomorrow. Remember to send your child to school in their street clothes so that they can change into them before we eat lunch. We will return to school in time for carpool.
- Talent Show - Wednesday 9:00 - 11:00
- Awards Assembly - Friday 10:15; report cards will be distributed in the classroom after the assembly.

Thank you for sharing your children with me this year. It has been a blessed year in so many ways. I will enjoy seeing your children thrive in sixth grade! I have appreciated all of the love and support that you have given our classroom this school year. Please feel free to stop in to say hello next year.

Summer blessings,
Mrs. Mulford
